

YEAR 11 PARENT AND STUDENT UPDATES

Dear Parents/Carers

As we head into the last 5 weeks of school time left before exams begin, I would like to draw your attention to some key information and events.

askOLA-Tutoring Webinar-Monday 27th March -1700-17:30pm

We introduced the online tutor programme to students back in October and previously wrote to parents. We feel this service could be better utilised to aid revision as it is led by experts in Maths English and Science. We have asked the lead for the programme to link with parents directly. There is a short webinar tomorrow for you to access. This may be useful for you in supporting your child access the fully funded 1-1 tutoring.

Please access the webinar below tomorrow at 5pm by clicking the teams link below.

P6, weekend and holiday sessions

P6 returns in full this week. We sent out a list of weekend science sessions prior to March mocks. Since then more dates for other subjects have been added and more will be added during this week. A skeleton of sessions can be found on the student section of the website and can be accessed below.

Please note, that we will be looking closely and targeting the sessions. I will provide a full update before we finish, on Friday, of names for each session. At present I wanted you to have the dates in mind so save. A full updated schedule will be available to collect at parents evening on Thursday and the website will be continually updated. A text reminder does go near the end of each week.

You will notice there are many English sessions added to the holidays. I have enlisted the support of an examiner from the board and an English expert, particularly in English Literature and in securing success in part B of both English Language papers. Again I am meeting with her this week and will re communicate the titles of each session and the timings that your child can attend.

Parents' Evening-Thursday 30th March 2023

A reminder that this event is this Thursday and will be the last opportunity to meet your child's teacher prior to the final revision push. The link has been emailed and there is linked pop up on the school website

Finally, I look forward to seeing you this Thursday.

Thank you for your ongoing support during this vital time.

Yours Faithfully
